The screenshot shows the CometDocs web interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a green 'Upload' button and a search bar. Below this, a file named '050_fall_enrl_his...' is shown with a PDF icon. A red arrow points from the file to the 'Convert' tab in the bottom navigation bar. Another red arrow points from the 'Upload' button to the text '#1 Upload'. A third red arrow points from the file to the text '#3 Drag the file into the convert box'. The 'Convert' tab is selected, and the interface shows a large area for dragging files and a smaller area for conversion options. The URL 'netdocs.com/#convert' is visible in the bottom left corner.

Output

The screenshot displays a web-based file conversion tool. At the top, a file named "050_fall_enrl_his..." is shown with a PDF icon. Below this, a instruction reads: "Drag files to the left field, select a conversion type and click Convert." The interface is divided into four tabs: "Convert", "Transfer", "Store", and "Host". The "Convert" tab is active, showing a list of conversion options: "to Word (docx)", "to Excel (xlsx)", "to DWG (dwg)", "to Powerpoint (pptx)", and "to DXF (dxf)". A red arrow points to the "to Excel (xlsx)" option. The file "050_fall_enrl_his..." is also visible in the "Convert" tab's left field.
